It's evening and Hal needs to go to bed.
He brushes his teeth and he brushes his head.

The big hand's on twelve and the small hand's on eight.
Quick, into your bedroom - it's really quite late.

Hal closes his curtains and turns out the light.
Curls under his blanket and snuggles up tight.
But just when he's starting to snuffle and snore...

his small toe takes off from the ground with a roar!
A whoosh! and it's out of the window they go.
The house soon becomes just a dot down below.

He soars through the clouds and the dark moonlit sky
And so right into space in the blink of an eye.

"It's Earth calling! Hal! Can you hear me? Come in!
We've a mission for you - when can you begin?"

"You're loud and you're clear, now just tell me the plan.
Please give me my mission - I'll do what I can."

"Please find us the Sun - it has gone from the sky.
It's vanished completely; we just don't know why."
"OK," agrees Hal with a nod of his head.
"I'll track down the Sun in my space-travelling bed."

"What's that up ahead?" Hal squints hard as he sees
A shape that is pale and all round, like a cheese!

There are craters and mountains and dust that is grey.

Could this be the Sun that we see in the day?

And back in his bedroom he snuggles down tight
And drifts off to sleep for the rest of the night.
As the sun starts to rise, Hal wakes up with a jump
And finally comes back to Earth

with a bump.
